Address: Seattle, Washington, United States

Description:

Staff Attorney The candidate will be responsible for investigating, filing, and litigating civil liberties and civil rights cases in both federal and state courts. This includes legal research, investigative work, identifying and signing up named plaintiffs, complaint drafting, discovery and motion practice, and handling trials and appeals. Will be responsible for maintaining an active docket of their own cases, typically with assistance from outside cooperating attorneys and a senior staff attorney, as well as helping to supervise and mentor more junior attorneys and fellows in the department as applicable and needed. Will also engage in advocacy short of litigation, coordinate with the various policy-focused ...
