Description:

Communicating seamlessly as required with customers is essential for consistent business growth since engagement drives a business in customer acquisition momentarily. But, how well is your business communication organized? Even if you have a great product, an effective customer communication engine is a key factor for a company to expand rapidly. Here we launch Redtie Version 3 Communication assistant for your business. A recent survey shows customers prefer to communicate through different channels, other than a phone call. So, what is Redtie? Redtie is an integrated communications platform with a built-in assistant. Part of having an effective communication means being active on as many platforms as possible...
