Description:

There isnt a person, family or business untouched by this recent worldwide pandemic. Its moments like these where we see special people step up to meet the crisis. Increasingly, we are witness to healthcare professionals who unselfishly adhere to their oath and place their lives on the line to save others. Similarly, there are IT leaders who are rising to the task to save the financial health of their companies. In todays session well talk about:: What can happen to a company if COVID-19 sends every employee home Engaging and enabling employees through technology Internal IT versus external IT is there a difference? Securing your business in battle like conditions Processes and procedures to ensure technology i...
