Description:

Sneed4Speed continues to push the MINI Cooper performance edge with constant racing, lab testing and new manufacturing techniques designed to make their parts stronger, lighter and more user friendly. They were undersized and overheated quickly. Once the engine oil temperatures were under Sneed4Speed developed a cooler kit that forced air from the front bumper through flexible hoses into proprietary brackets mounted on the wheel hub to blow the air directly into the brake rotor , Mini Cooper Accessories , and cool the brake system. The kit worked very well, reducing peak temperatures by over 500F! control the next weak link in the new MINI was the front brakes.
