Description:

When I decided to become a Personal Trainer Scottsdale in my early twenties, I expected to walk in to work each day with a full schedule of clients waiting to be trained. I quickly learned that in order to be a successful trainer, you have to first be a successful salesman. You cant help people if they wont give you money for your services. For the majority of trainers, this is a career breaker. They learn how to train people. They get into the industry to help people, but they dont learn the sales process.
