Description:

Choosing your child's childcare center or first school is both an exciting and daunting prospect. Regardless of the qualities, you're looking for, it's wise to start researching early and apply to multiple programs because space is often limited. Here are questions to ask, and things to look for to ensure that this center will be right for your child and you. Be sure to call in advance to arrange a tour. You may want to arrange an initial visit without your child and a follow-up visit with her to observe how she functions in the program. Social: Children will have opportunities to spend time with others their own age as well as children of other ages, with small groups, and spend time alone thereby developing both...
