Description:

Construction submittals, their importance, and quick review stepsConstruction submittal reviews are a critical part of the construction process, ensuring that all materials, equipment, and other products used in a project meet the requirements and standards set out by the owner, architect, and other stakeholders. In this article, we will explore what construction submittal reviews are, their importance, and how they are carried out. What are construction submittals? Construction submittals are documents that contractors, suppliers, and other project participants submit to the architect or engineer for review and approval. These submittals typically include product data, shop drawings, samples, and other informa...
