Description:

Pre-construction Services are additional services that some builders and construction managers will provide to clients at the front end of a construction project prior to starting. The main purpose of pre-construction services is to assist the client from the beginning of a project at project conception in achieving their design and budget goals. The end result of the pre-construction process is typically saving the client time and money. Sigma Contracting, Inc have experienced team allows us to provide full in-house pre-construction and construction services to our clients including estimating, value engineering, constructability, and logistical planning.
